realistic good looks

Timber-look claddings can now look even more realistic with new Resene Forester. The semi-transparent timber stain-effect finish is based on a tough 100% acrylic resin to ensure maximum durability in all exposed conditions. It imparts a natural low sheen look that is fully washable. Available in a range of colours from the popular Resene Exterior Stains collection. See your Resene ColorShop or selected reseller, www.resene.com/colorshops.

The new The Range Whites & Neutrals fandeck has been released with a mix of favourites from the last fandeck, new on-trend neutrals and extra variations of popular Resene neutrals. While there is a trend to some creams, such as Resene Clotted Cream in The Range fashion colours, there is still a strong move towards neutrals with a hint of green in them, such as Resene Thorndon Cream. Greige is on the upswing as beige hues move to greyed off versions. Beige is still big, but greige offers a new sleeker alternative. View large A4 swatches of the full collection at your Resene ColorShop in the in-store colour library. The individual loose palettes of whites and neutrals are also being updated to match the updated fandeck selection.

lined up luxury

The new Contro bath by Athena has the opulent modern appeal of a free-standing bath with the practical benefits of being positioned flush against the wall. Unlike traditional free-standing baths, tapware can be wall mounted or fitted to the integrated shelf. The double-ended style lets you recline at either end. Measuring 1600mm x 750mm, the Contro bath is available with an optional factory fitted aluminium upstand for a watertight seal between the bath and wall.

going troppo

Resene is introducing exciting new designs to the Resene Curtain Collection to give even greater impact to your interiors. All of the fabrics come with paint colour match suggestions to make co-ordination easy. This design, Resene Coral, turns up the heat with a tropical touch of colour.

This print features large scale punchy red and grey coral heads on a 100% hemp background. Try it with Resene Pohutukawa walls (pictured), Resene Stonehenge or Resene Half Tea. The new collection will be in Resene ColorShops, available through selected curtain specialists and online from April (NZ only).

where muka meets uhi

Resene has for many years supported the DIY Marae series, which focuses on a collaborative effort to protect and rejuvenate Marae buildings. Through those many projects, the Resene Heritage colour range has been constantly referred to. In many cases, early colours were similar for European and Maori buildings, purely because of the limited colour technology and palettes available. Traditional Maori colours do have their own unique nuances, and thanks to Maori ethnographer Wiremu Puke, seven key hues have now been reproduced for the updated Resene Heritage colour collection with the Traditional Maori Colour Palette. Order your free copy of the updated Resene heritage chart online at www.resene.com/ordercharts or pick up a free copy at your local Resene ColorShop or reseller.

Metals of all types are turning up in our homes. Here to help, Resene GP Metal Primer is a general purpose (GP) primer for exterior and interior metals – steel, galvanised steel and Zinalume. It is ideal over sound metal surfaces and mild to moderately rusted surfaces – both red rust and zinc oxide – or white rust, which occurs on galvanised steel and zinc. It's thick, which means you can get a lot of primer protection in just one coat, yet still easy to apply and use. Resene also has a range of galvanised iron primers – Resene Galvo One and Resene Galvo-Prime. These are ideal for roofs, before topcoating in Resene Summit Roof for a durable finish.

Many of us struggle to decide what decorating style we like and want to live with. It's the reason home and renovation magazines are so popular as we pore over the photographs, searching for a look that resonates with us.

But with a bit of confidence and good advice, it's fairly easy to discover your own style. It's easy to get swept up in the fashion of the moment but there's no use embracing what's trendy if it fundamentally doesn't suit you.

The new habitat plus – discover your style booklet is designed to help you find the style that best suits you and then use that to inspire and guide your choices. Copies of the booklet are available free at Resene ColorShops and resellers or read online at www.resene.com/habitatplus.
